PINEDO PLANE NOW IS FLYING OVER ATLANTIC

PILOTS SEAPLANE
ON ATLANTIC HOP;
F. DE PINEDO

Italian Airman and Assistants Making Newfoundland-Azores Voyage
Returning to Italy After Visiting Africa and the Two Americas

Trepassay, Nfld., May 23.—Commander Francesco de Pinedo, Italian four-continent aviator, and his companions hopped off from here at 4:28 o'clock this morning in their seaplane, Santa Maria II, for Horta, Azores, on the last leg of their round-trip flight, started from Italy.

EXPRESSED CONFIDENCE

Trepassay, Nfld., May 23.—With the cheers of a motley and shivering little group of townspeople and newspapermen still ringing in their ears, Commander Francesco de Pinedo, Italian four-continent flier, and his companions, bade farewell to the western Halls of Parliament this morning and hopped off for the Azores and home.

Refreshed by a long rest and apparently reconciled to two previous delays which had detained him and his companions here much longer than scheduled, Pinedo was confident when he got into his plane this morning that he had everything in perfect order while a tug from St. Johns assured the aviators they would be able to get their machine into proper position quickly.

GREAT ADVENTURE

The road from Rome and back which has carried the Pinedo crew across the broad South Atlantic over the impenetrable jungles of Brazil, above the stretches of the Caribbean, south into Arizona, brought them this morning to one of the most perilous portions of the long adventure since it meant that the treacherous fog on the Grand Banks must be successfully put behind and more than 1,600 miles of open water conquered before victory could be grasped.

BOAT WAS TOO SLOW

The great seaplane was refueled yesterday, its motors were carefully tested and everything was put in condition. Commanders noted that planned to hop off yesterday but the scheme was upset by the slowness of the motorboat that towed the plane down the harbor for the start. Because of a shortage of fuel it took the boat two hours to make the tow and, as it would have taken a long time to get the plane properly started, the commander decided it would be too late to start this day.

Pinedo was deeply chagrined at the delay, but immediately put his plane in shape for the start to-day.

CARRYING NO RADIO

In preparation for the long flight over the water, the aviators jettisoned all unnecessary equipment, including in this category the plane's wireless equipment.

DECLARATION ON BRITISH-SOVIET EVENTS AWAITED

Suggestion Relations
Broken Off Discussed by Cabinet in London

London, May 23.—Political circles were intensely interested in today's meeting of the Cabinet, at which Britain's relations with Soviet Russia, in connection with the recent Scotland Yard raid on Soviet House in London, were under consideration.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, had a half-hour's consultation with Premier Baldwin before the Cabinet met officially with a full attendance.

It is understood every aspect of the raid was thoroughly explored, and it is even said the vital question of a definite break with the Soviet was again under review. It is not expected, however, that any definite announcement will be made until the Government's statement in the House of Commons to-morrow.

ATTITUDE OF LABOR

Meanwhile Ramsay MacDonald, parliamentary Labor leader, in a wireless dispatch from the liner Berengaria to The London Evening Standard, says: "Complete severance with Russia now would be a blow to trade, a confession of diplomatic failure and approval of a police raid that, in its staging and results, is generally recognized as nothing but a melodramatic and patriotic farce."

Mr. MacDonald added that the international effect of severance of relations would be to "strengthen the revolutionary elements in the world and leave the field to their agents to go on with their work untrammeled."

OKANAGAN POLL
SET FOR JUNE 9

Voters to Choose Member in Straight Liberal-Conservative Fight

Writ Issued To-day Calls For Nominations to be Filed on June 1

Polling to fill the vacant seat of North Okanagan in the Provincial Legislature will take place on June 9, it was announced at the Parliament Buildings to-day. Nominations will be filed in Vernon on June 1.

Dr. K. C. Macdonald, former Provincial Secretary, Liberal, and W. F. Kennedy, Conservative, both of Vernon, will be the only candidates, it is expected.

Announcement that the by-election will be held on June 9 leaves both parties only seventeen more days for campaigning purposes. Already, however, the two candidates have covered the riding pretty thoroughly.

WRIT IS ISSUED

Formalities connected with the poll were completed over the week-end, the necessary documents being filed in Vernon to-day. J. Reinhard of Vernon will act as returning officer.

With Premier Oliver convalescing after his recent illness at Hamilton, Hon. J. D. MacLean, Acting Premier, will lead the Government forces in the campaign, but his presence in North Okanagan will bring him into close touch with the public and enable him to handle Government business here, in addition to the work of his three departments. Dr. MacLean will spend only a few days in the interior riding before the end of the campaign. It is possible other members of the Cabinet may address meetings in North Okanagan to explain the Government's policies.

North Okanagan will provide the fourth of a series of by-elections since the general poll of 1924. In the year of the general election Premier Oliver was elected to the House in Nelson. In 1925 the Liberal Party registered a loss in North Okanagan when Dr. Macdonald was defeated by the incoming Provincial Secretary, but in Grand Forks-Greenwood the Government gained a seat.

WILL ALTER STANDING

The North Okanagan contest will alter the standing of the parties in the House as it existed at the last session of the Legislature. At that time there were twenty-four Liberals; sixteen Conservatives; thirteen Progressives; four labor members. A Conservative victory will give the Opposition seventeen members, while a Liberal success would provide the Government with twenty-five votes, or a majority over all, without including Labor members and one Provincial, who have usually supported the administration.

WINNIPEG WHEAT GOES ABOVE $1.56

Heavy Rainfall on Prairies
Causes Optimistic Traders to Speculate

Winnipeg, May 23—Wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange soared to new high levels to-day in one of the wildest early-morning sessions in months. A few minutes after the opening the May option went to $1.56½ a bushel, a gain of 2½ cents from the close on Saturday. In the hectic drive to fill orders traders forced the October delivery 2½ cents higher, while the outer futures scored substantial gains.

It was primarily a speculative market with the heavy rainfall in the prairie provinces providing the bullish sentiment.

Coarse grains were higher in sympathy with wheat.

EARLY PIONEER DIES AT ADVANCED AGE

Late Mrs. Wm. Sinclair Was Granddaughter of "Man
From Glengarry"

Leaving ten children, twenty-seven grandchildren and thirteen great-grandchildren to mourn her, Mrs. Jeanne Eloise Sinclair, a pioneer, who was born at old Fort Nisqually, Washington, when that part of the world was thought to be British territory, passed away in her sleep at her home, 42 Helmcken Street, on Sunday, aged ninety years and ten months.

The late Mrs. Sinclair was born at Fort Nisqually on July 25, 1836, her parents being William Kittson, first Chief Factor of the Hudson's Bay Company service, and Mrs. Kittson, who was a daughter of the famous Finsen McDonald, who accompanied David Thompson on his first trip across the mountains and who is alleged to be the original of Ralph Connor's book, "The Man From Glengarry." After her parents' death the "hen" Miss Kittson and her brother became the wards of Sir James Douglass.

Mrs. Kittson was married to William Sinclair at Fort Nisqually by the chief factor of the Hudson's Bay Company, and afterwards left the fort to go to Helm's Gate, Montana, to enter into business for himself. Helm's Gate is now called Missoula, and William Sinclair was the founder of that flourishing town. Their eldest daughter, Mary Helen, was the first white child born there.

Paris—May 23—President Doumergue of France, receiving Captain Charles A. Lindbergh at the Elysee Palace at noon to-day, decorated him with the Legion of Honor for his epoch-making aeroplane flight from New York to Paris.

The President congratulated the young United States citizen most warmly on his great achievement.

Lindbergh arrived at the palace promptly at noon, accompanied by United States Ambassador Herrick and Sheldon Whitehouse, counsellor of the embassy.

They were taken immediately to President Doumergue, who was waiting. At some of the first greetings were given the President pinned the Cross of the Legion of Honor on the flier's breast and Lindbergh emerged from the palace wearing it.

Dear Sirs—For over three years I had neuritis in my hands so badly I was unable to close my fingers without great pain and effort, my suffering was terrible. After two weeks' treatment I felt great relief, and now after a month the swelling is almost gone, the stiffening and pain is greatly relieved; in fact, I feel like a different woman and am able to do the ordinary household tasks without any trouble. My blood pressure has also been reduced considerably and my whole system is in much better condition than in the highest terms of the I-ON-A-CO Bell and would advise anyone who is suffering to try your treatment and get relief. I am sure you will be pleased to know that others may know and help as I have done.

Sir Ernest in the address, which he read, dealt with Anglo-American relations, and then told what a wise move Canada had made in appointing its own Minister to Washington and opening its own diplomatic bureau there.

"In the last few months, as you are aware, a new step has been taken in the relations of Canada and the United States by the appointment to Washington of a special Canadian diplomatic representative in the person of my friend, Mr. Vincent Massey," Sir Ernest said.

"Whenever I have been asked, long before the appointment was made, what I thought about it, I have always been able, fortunately, to say quite unreservedly that in my humble opinion it would be an excellent thing to have a Canadian representative at Washington.

Rev. Principal W. H. Smith, D.D., and Rev. Principal J. G. Brown, D.D., presided at the gathering Saturday.

Dr. S. D. Chown was presented for the D.D. degree by Principal Smith. In conferring the honor Principal Brown stated the occasion was a unique one, for the college had been granted to bestow on him the degree of doctor of divinity. In the days before the war, he said, Dr. Chown had rendered valuable service by laying the foundations of Ryerson College. Plans then being made were interrupted, he declared, but it was significant that as Ryerson College was merging with Westminster Hall of the Presbyterian Church and with the Congregational College into the new Union College of British Columbia, they should be able to honor the first principal.

Ronald McLeod was presented for the degree of doctor of divinity by Rev. James Carruthers, clerk of senate.

LINDBERGH SLEPT TEN HOURS AFTER HIS GREAT FLIGHT

While New York-Paris Airman Rested Whole World Honored His Feat

Many Messages Received by Him in Paris; Leading Men Visited Him

Paris, May 23.—Sheltered here from a world filled with praise of him, Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh awoke yesterday afternoon from a sound ten-hour sleep, seemingly innocent of the fact that the whole world was anxious to honor his exploit of flying in an aeroplane from New York to Paris.

After he had telephoned his mother in Detroit, Michigan, Lindbergh placed himself in the kindly care of Myron T. Herrick, United States Ambassador to France. Mr. Herrick led him to the balcony of the Embassy to please the crowd that had been standing in the street clamoring for a sight of him even after the young hero had gone forth that at last the young hero had arisen from his sleep.

TOLD HIS STORY

After that two-score cameras had to be accommodated. Then Lindbergh told the story of his flight to a group of newspapermen, eager to send his words around the world. As his first act outside the Embassy since his arrival the young man did a thing that made him even more beloved in the hearts of the French, who already had given him such praise of tongue and pen as no man has known for years.

With the Ambassador as an escort, the birdman went to call upon the sorrowing mother of the gallant French aviator, Capt. Nungesser, who set out to fly the Atlantic a fortnight ago and had not been heard of since.

All France has been deeply touched at this act of young Lindbergh in making the visit to express his sympathy to the mother of Capt. Nungesser, who is believed to have sacrificed his life in attempting the perilous adventure that Lindbergh was later to achieve.

FLAGS PUT UP

While Lindbergh was sleeping soundly all Sunday morning Paris heeded honors after honor upon him. Even before dawn the city began to be agitated with the flag of his homeland.

The Government had the United States flag flung to the breeze on many public buildings, and for the first time in honor of a private citizen, a foreign banner was flown from the mast of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Now came the problem of clothing him. The Ambassador's shirt was found to fit fairly well and one of the footmen of the Embassy supplied a modest blue lounge suit that hung somewhat loosely on the slim figure of the modest young man from the West. A pair of old shoes went to complete the improvised outfit, in which he made his first public appearance since landing. The shoes he brought with him were of the tough old army type and a little heavy for city wear.

CHEERED BY CROWD

When the birdman appeared on the balcony of the Embassy there was nothing of weariness in his countenance. His hair, of the sandy sort, was found on men leading the outdoor life had been but slightly brushed, and as the young man smiled his gentle, good hearted, unaffected smile, the crowd that had kept silent so long while he slept, burst into quick rising crescendo of "bravos".

For five minutes more he stood there with the Ambassador. The crowd was then reluctant to let him leave, and he went downstairs and stood at the Embassy's entrance, hidden from the street by high walls and heavy gates, and looked into a hundred lenses that will make his smile known everywhere.

DESCRIBED FLIGHT

Messages from all over the world poured steadily through the Embassy doors. So did visitors, many of them men of great prominence. Among the first to visit the Embassy in the morning was Paul Claudel, French Ambassador to the United States, with his son and daughter. They extended congratulations to Ambassador Herrick. But though all Lindbergh slept unobstructed.

Marshall Lyautey was another caller, as was an official of the Foreign Office, bringing felicitations from M. Briand, who is absent from Paris.

The tennis star, Jean Borotra, came also, proud, he said, to be the first French sportsman to congratulate the young aviator.

"I am the happiest man alive," he remarked afterwards, "to be the first French sportsman to present my homage to Capt. Lindbergh for his magnificent exploit. Nothing could please French sportsmen better than that if Nungesser and Coli had failed, it was Lindbergh who could succeed."

ORTEIG IN PARIS

Almost at the same time the donor of the prize of $25,000 that inspired international efforts to make a non-stop flight linking London and New York arrived at the gate, Raymond Orteig of New York, who made a special trip Saturday from the Pyramids in order to greet Lindbergh upon his arrival, but the aviator reached Paris before M. Orteig could.

"I am a lot lighter," M. Orteig said. "About $25,000 lighter!" someone suggested.

"I mean my spirits feel lighter at the thought of what this man has done."

ATL LIGHTLY

Meanwhile Lindbergh slept on, and the regulation eight hours, but had earned more, and he took them sweetly unconscious someone had opened the door of his bedroom. He turned over with a deep sigh, but did not awaken. It was a little after 2 o'clock when at last he had his eyes open.

He had retired a little before 4 a.m. after a light meal of congee and a flask of milk, his first food since leaving New York, except, as he expressed it, "about a sandwich and a half."

THE WILL TO PEACE

IN THE COURSE OF HIS SPEECH TO the Canadian Club on Saturday night Sir Esme Howard made an eloquent plea for peace in language which left no doubt about his attitude towards armaments and the tremendous burden which their manufacture and upkeep impose upon the world. It was only natural, of course, that the greater part of his address should be devoted to the relations existing between the British Empire and the United States; but in the following extract from his remarks he makes himself clear on the subject of peace and how to promote it:

"If we, English-speaking peoples, can amongst ourselves create and develop the will to peace and establish between ourselves relations of complete mutual confidence, I have no doubt that the period of general concern over war and security will spread elsewhere, and as a result, armaments with their burden will disappear and the world relieved of this burden will be able to look back on the time when countries were compelled to spend on battleships and big guns the sums that could much more profitably be spent on education and scientific research, on hospitals and beautiful buildings for the adornment of our cities, as we now look back on the 'dark ages' or on the barbarous times before the Roman Empire."

It will remain for public men as well as newspapers and other agencies of education to do their part in developing the will to peace to which Sir Esme Howard refers. Advocating the building of huge battleships on the basis of their need for the protection of trade routes, the necessity of preparing for war to preserve peace, and other fallacious arguments, never will accomplish the desired end. It will be necessary to impress upon the public, particularly on the mind of the rising generation, that war is not only brutal but futile to a degree as a means of disposing of differences which crop up between nations from time to time.

Sir Esme's reference to the unwisdom of the English-speaking peoples entering into any compact which would smack of a desire to dominate the rest of the world was a notable point in his address. He views such an arrangement very much in the same light as that in which he would view with alarm a programme of competitive battleship construction with its inevitable result. And the ground upon which Sir Esme stands in this regard is sound enough.

He knows, as everybody else knows, that there would be very little meaning to the friendly relationship which now exists between the British Empire and the United States if efforts were made to keep it alive by a written formula containing the signatures of the various component parts concerned. There is a tie of language, of customs, of laws, of institutions, which is worth all the treaties in the world. There is also something of a family tie between a very large number of the American people and their English-speaking relations. It is common for relations to have their little squabbles between themselves. They are not serious as a rule and soon blow over. Fundamentally they are on common ground.

So it is with the British Empire. In the very freedom of action enjoyed by its parts lies their own strength. In the unwritten arrangement which binds them all together lies the basis of their power and influence in the world. Their responsibilities and obligations make it essential that no provocative challenge which might produce another world war should spring from them.

MOTORIST AND PEDESTRIAN

MONTREAL HAS BEEN HAVING more than its share of automobile accidents, particularly during week-ends, and The Montreal Star wants to know if "careless drivers of automobiles are going to repeat the mad escapade of 'beating the train to the crossing,' if the road hogs are going to plough away at top speed through crowded roads and streets, utterly regardless of the safety of fellow-drivers and oblivious of the fact that such beings as pedestrians walk the earth."

These observations and the inquiry which our Montreal contemporary makes may be applied to other communities on this continent. It is fortunate for pedestrians that many motorists—the great majority, no doubt—are appreciative of other people's rights and conform to traffic regulations. On the other hand, there are many who pay not the slightest attention to people on foot; they seem to regard them as unnecessary evils and, if their mad career through the streets is halted for the fraction of a second by such a nuisance as a pedestrian, the latter is glared at as if he had committed a heinous offence against humanity at large.

It is not uncommon to hear the motorist argue that the pedestrian does some of the most foolish things in thoroughfares crowded with automobile traffic. But what can be said of the motorist who waits until he is almost on the top of the pedestrian before he sounds his signal and then sounds it as if it had to be heard a couple of miles away? Many motorists could have saved themselves trouble—and their victims pain—by using a little common sense in this regard. The pedestrian started out of his wits—and occasionally abused by the individual at the driving wheel—may jump out of danger; but he often jumps into it through sheer fright.

SEALING THE BATTLESHIP'S FATE

CAPTAIN LINDBERGH'S FLIGHT FROM New York to Paris suggests that before many years have passed air communication between these two cities will be a commonplace thing. It also tends to refute the argument that the battleship is the chief bulwark of a maritime nation's defence. The greatest pre-Washington Conference dreadnought cost about $60,000,000 to build and between two and three years to turn out. The largest battleship under the size-limitation compact—Britain's Nelson—cost about $35,000,000. For $60,000,000 either Great Britain or the United States could build probably more than a thousand bombing machines capable of covering enormous distances at up to 150 miles an hour. This is the economic argument.

What of the military aspect? We are told that it now is possible to construct a battleship which will successfully defy the aerial bomber and resist the torpedo launched against it by the unseen submarine. All this no doubt is true; but what can the battleship do against a country which has gone in for aerial fighting equipment on a large scale? Ships' guns are able to make a sorry mess of all that happens to be within range from the coast line; but while the geographical fringe of a country is being ploughed up by shells from the heavy guns of the modern ship thousands of bombing aeroplanes are scattering death and destruction over every part of the belligerent's territory. The chief cities of a country naturally would be the first targets. With them in ruins the issue would be settled. The morale of the civil population would be shattered.

This is the prospect which the flight of young Lindbergh helps to disclose. It is not pleasant to contemplate. It is to be hoped that the world will not lose its head again; but it must not be forgotten that if there should be another war on a large scale, it probably will be started by the nation or group of nations best prepared to attack their foes at their most vulnerable points, namely, the very homes of the people—neither by the use of arms nor fleets.

TRIBUTE TO MR. MASSEY

SIR ESME HOWARD PAID AN IMPRESSIVE compliment to Mr. Massey and the Canadian Legation in the United States capital in his address to the Canadian Club on Saturday night.

Already a cordial relationship has sprung up between the Ambassador and Mr. Massey. There will be no difficulty in maintaining this pleasant understanding, since both men are endowed with the qualities which make for good feeling and hearty co-operation.

While the British Ambassador now is relieved of special responsibility for matters of purely Canadian interest between the Dominion and the United States, no doubt there often will be exchanges between the two representatives, and Sir Esme's tribute to Mr. Massey is an indication of the cordial spirit in which the occasional conference will be conducted.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAYA PLEA FOR WILDFLOWERS

From The Pittsburgh Gazette-Times

This is the season when the city dweller motors to the country to drink in the beauties of nature and too frequently returns home leaving a trail of destruction. The wild flowers have sprung up in fields, on hillsides and in the woods. They are beautiful. It is difficult to resist their lure. Some overcome the temptation to possess them. A large number do not. Great is their delight in gathering a bouquet. But short-lived is it. Few of the wildflowers last when plucked. Even before they have got home they have withered, usually left where nature placed them they delight the eyes of all beholders for days. They should be so left.

NOT SO HARD-BOILED

From The New York Herald-Tribune

An old story which found high favor outside the metropolis was told of a New Yorker who faced with a demand for his money or his life by a highwayman, replied: "Shoot me! I'd rather be dead than be in New York without money." Yet New York's reputation for being hard-boiled is wholly undeserved. New York has an appeal from a city stricken by fire, tempest, earthquake or flood failed promptly to loosen the "tensioning" of this community. Rich and poor alike contribute heavily annually to all charities, and more when special needs arise. Already the $6,000,000 flood relief fund is past the half-way mark. For New York, like all other cities, is populated by kindly disposed average human beings, who are incapable of turning deaf ears to appeals to help the unfortunate.

Born in Glasgow in 1815, he migrated with his family in 1820 to upper Canada, where they settled at Kingston. He was educated at the Royal Grammar School, and at the age of fifteen to enter a law office; and was called to the bar at the age of twenty-one. After eight years of practice, he was elected to the Legislative Assembly of Canada in 1844, and continued to represent Kingston in parliament until his death in 1891. His first term of office was from 1847-1851.

In 1857 he had become Prime Minister in the Macdonald-Cartier ministry. On the defeat of the Tache-Macdonald administration in 1864, he was a prime mover in the formation of the "Great Coalition" designed to carry through the plans for Confederation; and after the election of 1867, he became the first premier of the Dominion of Canada. In 1869, Macdonald was the chief figure in the discussions and bringing into force of the British North America Act. Therefore, at the inauguration of this Dominion in 1867, he was selected to be the first premier; and by force of his genius he held the position with the exception of Mackenzie's five years of office, until his retirement in 1872.

Ready in compromise, nimble in political strategy, our first premier was far more than an able parliamentarian; he was a statesman to whose foreign policy Canada owes such enduring benefits as the purchase of the West from the Hudson's Bay Company, the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway which opened the prairies for settlement, and brought British Columbia into the Union; and the adoption of a tariff policy which all succeeding governments have continued, with necessary modifications, to this day.

THOUGHTS

Therefore if thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink; for so in doing thou shalt heap coals of fire upon his head.—Romans xii., 20.

NEWS IN BRIEF

May 24 will be observed as a holiday by the city throughout all departments. The City Hall will remain closed all day to-morrow, with council and committee meetings cancelled for the first of the week.

All proceeds of the May 24 programme, with the exception of five cents on each, which goes to the boys selling them, will be given towards the expenses of the Victoria Day celebrations. Joe North, in charge of the programme announces.

It is the expectation of the committee in charge that there will be a large attendance at the dance to be held under the auspices of the Civic Employees' Association, to-morrow evening, at the Sooke Civic Hall. View seats. This dance is being held to create a fund for a city workman who, unfortunately, has been in hospital for the last three months.

The next regular general meeting of the Naval Veterans' Branch of the Canadian Legion will be held in the club headquarters Friday, May 27 at 8 p.m. The delegates to the provincial convention in Vancouver will be elected at this meeting. There will be discussion on resolutions to be voted on, and a report on the distribution of the canteen funds. The executive officers of the branch will meet at 7:30 p.m. the same date.

At a meeting of the tuberculosis section of the B.E.L. at the clubrooms, Yates and Langley, the meeting came to attention as a sign of respect to the memory of a departed comrade, Com. A. Patton, and sympathy and condolence to the bereaved family. The evening was opened with the formation of legislative recommendations to be presented at the forthcoming B.E.L. Provincial Convention. Many suggestions and recommendations, as to the disposal of the canteen fund, were put forward, but it was decided that relief of the men in the institution should be the only use to which this fund should be put. The delegates from this branch will therefore be instructed to advocate that the canteen fund be expended as heretofore, but on a much broader basis, and to include assistance for similar returning men and particular attention be drawn to the difficulties of veterans' orphans in orphanages, homes, etc., and also to sick or crippled children of returned men.

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

We have passed over this subject of adenoids and tonsils thinking that there were few mothers who were not familiar with the symptoms of adenoids and tonsils which indicate that they should be removed. But Mrs. I. G. G. asks: "Is tonsillitis an indication that tonsils should be removed?" So, think I to myself, certainly tonsils and adenoids are still problems.

Recurring attacks of tonsillitis indicate clearly that the tonsils are somewhat of a menace to the child's health and that at least they should be examined and the doctor allowed to decide if removal is necessary. To remove tonsils and adenoids on general principles is not advocated, but when they become infected and become set up houses and crypts caused by such germs multiplying and getting into the tonsils are still problems.

When a child has attacks of ear-ache with consequent running from the ears, it is wise to let a doctor take a look at the tonsils, the removal of which may end the trouble. Children who suffer with repeated sore throats, who take cold on the least provocation, need to have the nose and throat examined for possible sources of infection. The removal of tonsils and adenoids in the normal child is a simple matter. When necessary it should be done without delay. Only a physician can determine if the tonsils are

The child who breathes with mouth open constantly and breathes at the nose, has some obstruction in the nose or throat and this should be removed. The face of the typical adenoidal person is a familiar one. Thin nostrils, an open mouth, usually a receding chin, pallid, blank of face. Such facial changes come about only after years of difficult breathing. Yet the path of such changes begins in infancy, and then is the time to begin the work of reparation.

Sayward

Sayward, May 23.—Rev. Father Quinn, of Campbell River, made a short visit to Sayward last week, arriving on St. Venture Tuesday afternoon and returning on the motor launch Hardwick Thursday noon. His time was fully occupied in his endeavor to call upon all the Catholics scattered up and down the valley. Mass was said at the upper end of the valley Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Long, and at the Community Hall.

Each with a new-born calf, arrived at the Sayward wharf by the Vancouver-Courtenay Transportation Company, Friday, for O. Skoglund, chairman of a special meeting accepted the resignation of the secretary, J. Edward, the chairman, J. Lewis, and D. Davies being elected to approach A. Henry, who held the office for some years, to see if he would reconsider his decision, made at the beginning of the year to drop out of the committee and take on the work of secretary again for this year.

Speaking of the need of a greater population to develop the natural resources of the country and the unlimited opportunities awaiting those who were willing to work their way to comfort and independence, Mr. O'Halloran said the tide of immigration was rising fast and it was gratifying to know that the vast majority made good in their new homes. The selected immigration of the present day was a decided improvement on the methods of former years.

Touching on the construction of the West Coast road, to which the Government was now pledged, the speaker expressed his gratification that it would make a great highway of the present road through Shirley, which after years of slow development was coming into its own, according as it became more widely known.

A. T. Weight, president of Esquimalt Liberal Association, spoke very interestingly on organization and other matters relating to association business.

A hearty vote of thanks to all three visitors was moved by Edwin Clark and a cordial invitation was given to come again.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. T. E. Cross, and the other ladies present at the close of a very enjoyable evening.

SOLARIUM TO BE "AT HOME" ON TWO DAYS

Official Announcement Made of May 28 and 29 Plans

In order to give all persons who are interested in the Queen Alexandra Solarium, and especially those who have so generously helped financially, or otherwise, to establish it, an opportunity of seeing the Solarium, it has been decided by the directors to open the building and grounds to the public on Saturday and Sunday, May 28 and 29, from 10 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 6 p.m. All visitors will be able to see for themselves the wonderful work that is being done for the little cripples, already happily installed there, and will leave satisfied that money or energy expended on such an undertaking could not have been used in a better cause.

By kind permission of the Illustrious Band will play a selection of sacred music, commencing at 3 p.m. on Sunday, May 29.

Owing to the care which must be exercised to prevent infection being conveyed to the patients, children under sixteen cannot be admitted inside the building or on the verandas. Visitors are earnestly requested to pass along the ward and veranda, lingering no longer than is necessary to see the patients.

The C. & C. Taxi Company will run a service of cars to Brentwood on the days named, which will connect with the Mill Bay Ferry. Arrangements are being made for a bus to meet the ferry boat at Mill Bay to convey passengers the remaining two miles to the Solarium. Time tables should be obtained, and reservations made early with the C. & C. Taxi Co.

After the end of this month, the number of parties or individuals admitted to the Solarium will necessarily have to be restricted as the present arrangements visitors cannot fail to interfere with the work of the staff, and with the treatment of the children. Special passes to visit the Solarium may, after the end of this month, be applied for at the city office. The visiting days for parents will remain as before, viz., Monday 1 and 3 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday, or at other times by special arrangement with the nurse in charge.

Any further information may be obtained on application to the city office, 918 Government Street.

SHIRLEY ENTERTAINS LIBERAL SPEAKERS

Saanich and Esquimalt Men at Monthly Meeting

Shirley, May 23.—The principles of Liberalism are a sound foundation on which to build the material prosperity of Canada, was the theme of an able address by D. Ramsey of Saanich at a gathering of the Liberal men of the district at Shirley last Friday evening, which took the place of the usual monthly meeting of the Shirley Liberal Association.

Thomas E. Cross, president, was in the chair.

Outlining the difficulties and dangers of the reconstruction period following the Great War, Mr. Ramsey said the world was getting back to normal and the spirit of youth was inspiring us forward to greater freedom and higher aspiration along all lines of progress.

He also stressed the importance of taxation in general to yield the greatest returns for the money spent. For a comparatively small sum annually we have roads, education, protection for life and property, and all available utilities at our disposal.

Mr. Ramsey was listened to with marked interest as was also C. H. O'Halloran, president of the Malahat Federal Riding Liberal Association, who spoke on Dominion affairs generally.

DOUBLE HOLIDAY BILL

"VENUS IN VENICE" IS LIVELY VEHICLE FOR CONNIE TALMADGE

Antonio Moreno as Artist Plays Exciting Role in Capitol Film in Magnificent Setting

"Venus of Venice," Constance Talmadge's newest screen offering, opening at the Capitol Theatre to-day, established itself promptly as an exceptional photo-play.

"Venus of Venice" is refreshing. It meets the demand for something different, and Constance is thoroughly delightful as "Carrollita," gypsy-like creature of the Venetian canals who, thieving to live, without thought of danger, dives and swims into and out of one entanglement after another.

She finally swims into an entanglement of the heart, that entraps her—which is as it should be when a madcap of her type presents so much that is lovely in her complex nature.

Antonio Moreno is seen in an unusual role as "Kenneth Wilson," an artist, who is the medium of "Carrollita's" redemption. At first glimpse there may be those to whom Moreno seems a stranger in this part. He is not like the Moreno of previous pictures. But his artistry overcomes any and all fears. His triumph is surely a tribute to his versatility.

Three fine vaudeville attractions are being offered at the Capitol Theatre this week in conjunction with the feature presentation, "Venus of Venice." They include Beggy Cartwright in "Steps in Dutch," a very dainty dance novelty; David Morgan, the famous Welsh tenor, in song selections, and Dailey and Kaye, two extremely versatile girls, in a novelty offering.

Coliseum Has Double Bill on Screen and Stage Offerings Too

"Oh My," Girl Wonder, Makes Hit in Specialty Dancing; Pa Potter Follows

At the Coliseum Theatre this week a complete change of programme is taking place.

On the stage, five first-class vaudeville acts are guaranteed to give real entertainment. The headliner of this vaudeville bill is "Oh My," the child wonder, contortionist and specialty dancer of the continent. "Oh My" has won an enviable reputation in the Western States and Canada and is very popular wherever she has played. "Oh My" gives a series of acts that is positively breath-taking, and her acrobatic stunts are marvelous when you consider she is only a young girl. The other acts are all deserving of praise and give varied and excellent amusement.

On the screen, the Coliseum again offers double attraction. "I prayed and God gave me twenty cents," is the way that the first screen offering finishes. This picture, adapted from Dixie Wilson's story, "God Gave Me 20 Cents," opened a $15,000,000 theatre in New York, and is the tale of two men—one good, the other bad; of two women—one a mere child, the other hard; and of two, dimwits—both false. It is a story of love, romance, suspense, this depiction of the New Orleans waterfront during a Mardi Gras carnival by a wonderful screen portrayal.

J. P. McEvoy's play, "The Potters," starring the great comedian, W. C. Fields, as Pa Potter, is the Coliseum's second offering on the silver sheet.

And, he is Pa. From his very first entrance we are drawn to this poor, struggling, henpecked husband through his triumphs and failures as we move to smile and even sob, just a little.

"The Potters" is a story of everyday folk, the kind we know and live with. Ivy Harris, playing her first major screen role as Mamie and Mary Alden as Pa's daughter, featured in numerous of the stars—Richard "Skeets" Gallesher, Jack Egan and Joseph Smiley head his supporting cast. Liberally sprinkled with laughs and typical Field gags, "The Potters" is sure to prove a treat.

"Ole Bill" Had no Prototype in Fact Says Bairnsfather

Character Evolved Out of State of Mind Now Showing At Variety

"Old Bill" was the drawing of a frame of mind, not an actual person, according to Captain Bruce Bairnsfather, author of "The Beloved 'Ole" in which Syd Chaplin will be at the Variety all week. It is a Warner Bros. production.

"Old Bill" was an imaginary type," said Captain Bairnsfather, "but he got so well known that I found the soldiers trying to look like him and he really became so real to people that I even received anonymous letters from a woman who said she was Old Bill's wife and seemed to think that I was making money out of her husband and that she ought to get some of it."

The Old Bill sketches became so popular that Captain Bairnsfather was officially detailed, in succession, to the French lines, the Italian lines and the American lines, to make his sketches of the comic side of soldier life. "This," said the Captain, "was practically impossible with the French, much better with the Italians, and when I got to the American forces I found that the American boys had the same type of humorous outlook as the British Tommies."

Jackie Coogan Now Plays Jockey Role On Columbia Screen

"Johnny Get Your Hair Cut" is Title of Lockless Boy Screen Hero

Jackie Coogan has brought to the screen a new characterization which marks the dividing line between the young genius' boyhood and boyhood. The news of the shearing of Jackie's locks was doubtless attended by the tears of his millions of feminine admirers, but they need not worry for spectators. Jackie Coogan is not lost to them. The tonsorial metamorphosis of Jackie Coogan is a radian surprise as you will see at the Columbia Theatre, where "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut," is being shown for the first time.

The counselors of Jackie Coogan could have selected no finer vehicle for this period of Jackie's career than Gerald Beaumont's vivid tale of the turf. The story follows faithfully the origin of the author which appeared in a national magazine a short time ago. Nothing important is left out and nothing added that lacks in pertinence and direct value.

The story is that of an orphan son of an erstwhile trainer of thoroughbred race horses. On the death of his father the youngster makes his way across the country in a horse car to the California tracks where he tries to obtain a position as an apprentice

EGGERS CASE MAY CONTINUE MAY 28

He was remanded to that date recently, according to Superintendent McMullin of the B.C. Provincial Police, but unless the witnesses for the Crown can be obtained within the period remaining to the authorities for preparation, the case will again be adjourned.

Milo Eggers, charged with participation in the hijacking of the launch Hadsel and the shooting and wounding of its helmsman, Elias Larum, will possibly come to trial here on May 28.

Eggers is lodged in the provincial jail pending his trial before Magistrate Jay in this city. He has been there ever since officers took him from the Victoria jail to that on the mainland. Originally he was lodged at Tacoma while the proceedings to obtain his extradition were being carried out.

Eggers has not signified whether or not he will have counsel representing him when he is called before the magistrate in this city. The preliminary hearing will see the array of the prosecution's evidence against the prisoner and during this, Larum, the four-times wounded helmsman of the launch Hadsel, will tell his story of the fight in which Eggers is alleged to have participated.

Genial Playhouse Comedian is Author of "A Knight for a Day"

Beginning Monday, Earle Murray's play is by Jimmie Howard, genial light comedian. The plot concerns mainly one, Guy Dupres, an English gentleman, who, trying to drown a cold with various intoxicating liquors, falls into a troubled sleep and dreams that he is back in the "Good Old Days" when "Knights Were Bold."

The various characters of the play appear in the dream in extraordinary costumes and with extraordinary speech. Jimmie Howard plays Guy, Earle Murray is Algy, a fop; Peggy Lewis is Mona Browne-Lewis, an aristocratic girl; Ethel Staudt appears as a maid who, while in character she has an opportunity to again display her unusual ability as a dancer, and Harold Bechtel is playing Steven, the rector.

This play has been chosen for its unusual qualities for the holiday attraction.

"The Perfect Sap," a comedy-mystery, produced by Ray Rockett for First National, is on the screen with Ben Lyon in the featured role, and a cast of supporting players whose names are as widely known as picture themselves.

Howard Higgin directed from France Agnew's adaptation of the recent New York stage success, "Not Right."

Rockett declares Ben Lyon has played the most unusual role he has ever played in his screen career.

Pauline Starke, Virginia Lee Corbin, Sam Hardy and Lloyd Whitlock head the featured cast in support of Lyon. The plot deals with a would-be detective.

JOHN BARRYMORE PLAYS "THE BELOVED ROGUE" AT DOMINION THEATRE

Dramatic Story Unfolded in Setting of Swiftly-moving Scenes, With Unsuspected Sequel

"The Beloved Rogue," in which John Barrymore brings to the screen the fascinating story of Francois Villon, famed eccentric poet of France in the fifteenth century, and Barrymore's first feature production for United Artists is a picture composed of "big moments." Dramatic highlights follow each other in such rapid succession that the production affords a continual series of thrills, building up to a surprising climax.

This new Barrymore picture, which opens to-day at the Dominion Theatre, begins its story just before the birth of the baby Villon, who is destined to influence the entire history of France through the power of his pen. The opening sequence strikes a high dramatic note without preliminaries, with the burning at the stake of Francois Villon's father, advocate of the people, and compatriot of Joan of Arc. While his ashes still are smouldering in the square of Rouen and while bold ravens flutter over the charred heap on the altar, the mother places some of the ashes in a small locket and vows that the babe yet to be born will finish the work of the father. This locket, on the birth of Francois Villon, is placed about his neck and remains there through his life, the significance of the token forming a poignant dramatic strain throughout the picture.

Then, from this tragedy formed into a lighter phase, with Villon, now full grown, revealed not only as the greatest poet of the time, but also as a housebreaker of exceptional skill, clambering over the rooftops to steal great pitchers, and using the pitchers in a game of wits to defraud an innkeeper of wine.

Villon, brilliant of mind yet the companion of thieves and the idol of the street sharp, is chosen King of Fools by the merrymakers who frequent the streets on All Fool's Day, with the assistance of his friends and admirers. He is made up in a manner befitting his head, distorted eyebrows, a great clump of a puffy nose and exaggerated lips. The makeup is at once ludicrous and startling, and sharply in contrast with anything Barrymore ever had essayed previously.

"Trelawny of 'The Wells'" Opens At Royal To-night With Exceptional Cast

John Drew, Mrs. Thomas Whiffen and Many Whose Names Are Bywords for Success Appear in Pinero Comedy

"Trelawny of 'The Wells,'" with a cast of notables that surpasses in magnificence anything seen in Victoria for many a day, opens at the Royal for a single performance to-night, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock.

Produced under the direction of George C. Tyler, the venture includes John Drew, Peggy Wood, Eric Heggie, Helen Gahagan, Otto Kruger, Estelle Winwood, Rollie Peters, Mrs. Thomas Whiffen, Wilton Lackaye, Henrietta Crosman, Eric Dressler, John E. Kellard, Effie Shannon, Lawrence D'Orsay, J. M. Kerrigan and Frieda Inescort.

John Drew, "the dean of the American theatre" and for three generations one of its leading players, is the irascible and irascible Sir William Gower of the comedy. Except for a short appearance two years ago in the Players' Club revival of "Trelawny," Mr. Drew has not been seen since his memorable appearance of the piece of the sturdy Lord Portman in "Somerset Maugham's 'The Circle.'" "Rosemary," "Major Pendennis" and "The Gay Lord Quex" were among his recent appearances.

Peggy Wood, famous alike as prima donna of such outdoor musical successes as "The Nightingale," "Maytime" and "The Clinging Vine," as for her dramatic triumphs as an actress in the Actors' Theatre production of Shaw's "Candida" and in "The Bride," heads the younger contingent in the Pinero comedy. There are many others.

O. P. Heggie, that pre-eminent player of character parts, last in "Minick," "Fashions for Men," and "Maple Leaf," and Helen Gahagan, who scored her greatest success in "Young Woodley," "Chains," and "The Enchanted April," the Byronic young Rollie Peters, recently leading man to

Jane Cowl in her classic interpretations, and Otto Kruger, the late star of "The Nervous Wreck."

There is Wilton Lackaye, who created the role of Svengali in "Trilby"; also Henrietta Crosman and Effie Shannon, players as magnificent in their maturity as they were in their youth when they shared honors with Eddie Adams and Ade Rehan; that distinguished Shakespearean delineator, John E. Kellard and a dozen others.

Perhaps the appearance of no single player in the imposing array equals that of Mrs. Thomas Whiffen, that grand old white-haired first lady of the stage. Only a few weeks ago, Mrs. Whiffen celebrated her eightieth birthday. Her appearance in "Trelawny" marks her thirty-ninth enactment of the role of Mrs. Mossop—the first in the original production in 1896, the second in 1911 in the Ethel Barrymore version.

The presence of any one of such eminent players in the cast of a play would make interesting the most modest of scenes; it is a felicitous combination of such an appearance will be an event in the history of the Victoria Theatre.

7.00 p.m.—Roller hockey: Victoria juniors, world's champions, vs. St. Pauls, Blanchard Street, near Library.
7.00 p.m.—Intercity water gala: Victoria vs. Vancouver, at Crystal Garden.

A varied programme of sport is on the dial for the fans, and they can follow his particular fancy and get a few thrills.

The intercity cricket match between Victoria and Vancouver will be an all-day affair, and will start at 10.30 o'clock and stumps will be drawn at 6.30 o'clock. This is the first match for the Flumerfelt Cup this season, and both teams are expected to give their best.

The lacrosse players will arrive here on the morning boat, and be the guests of the Victoria team at breakfast. Vancouver is sending over a very strong eleven. Several new players will make their appearance, including Browne, a first-class man, who recently took up his residence in Vancouver.

The Victoria team is very good, and will assure the visitors of a stiff argument. The local team will be as follows:

E. D. Freeman (captain), Albions; Major H. Cobbett, Garrison; R. W. Gravett, Cowichan; G. Wilkinson, Garrison; L. P. Martin, Incom, Victoria; Sparks Incogs, G. C. Gandy, Victoria; W. H. Pendray, Two C's; A. H. Adams, Albions. Reserves, Muncy and Morgan.

Port Angeles crack baseball team will perform in two games here to-morrow against Victoria-All Star team. The games which are being staged by the local senior league will be played at 10 o'clock and 2.30 o'clock.

McDonald, on the pitching staff of the Travellers, will be in the box for the Travellers, who are going to hold the Victoria slumbers in check.

Port Angeles—Cable, Adams, Avery, Ostenson, McLennan, White, Coleman, Enfield, McLean, and Ervin.

Victoria—A. Webster, J. Cummings, F. Campbell, M. Dunn, J. D'Arcy, H. Gandy, R. Copas, G. Gandy, T. Walker, H. Down, H. Cummings, T. Walker, C. Campbell, F. McMinn, N. Bryson, R. Parfitt, McDonald, J. Noble and J. Kerr.

The opening lacrosse game of the season is arousing much interest, and there will no doubt be a big crowd at the Royal Athletic Park to see the boys play. Both the Victoria and Vancouver teams have been strengthened considerably this year by the reinstatement of several former pros and the promotion of a number of promising Juniors.

The senior league this year will include but two teams, Victoria and Sidney. This will prevent the spreading of the game players on too many teams and assure first-class competition.

The teams are in good condition for a hard game.

The Capitals will line up as follows: McGregor, McNamee, Taylor, Tambouline, Johnson, Goodacre, John Taylor, Stanier, Nutt, Cotton, Bjornfjord, Suga, McDougall, Popham, Patterson and Wright.

Before the lacrosse game starts the Victoria Cycle Club will stage a programme of interesting bike races. The many events will be run in heats owing to the large number of entries and the finals will be held in the intervals of the lacrosse game. There will be some breathing periods for the lacrosse players, and the bike riders will thrill the fans in the final events at this time.

A splendid game will be staged at the Crystal Garden to-morrow evening. Vancouver is sending over a strong contingent of swimmers and divers, and with all the local stars entered competition should be exceptionally keen. The first event will be staged at 7.30 o'clock.

Johnny Cameron and Robert McMillan are among the stars who are coming over from the mainland city, and both these boys will give the Victoria competitors plenty to worry about.

Brentwood College have also entered a team in the relay race.

The entries are as follows:

Event one, 100 yards men's free style—John Bailey, Vancouver A.S.C.; Robert McMillan, Vancouver A.S.C. (Concluded on page 11)

McQuade Is Crowned Champion of Colwood Golf Following Win

Former City Champ Defeats Harold Lineham, 5 and 4, in Final Match

Greater Steadiness Accounts For Victory; Lineham Fails For Second Time

Ed. McQuade has another golf title to play with as a result of his victory over Harold Lineham at the Colwood Golf Club yesterday. Two years ago McQuade won the city championship but he was not successful in retaining it last year and was worn of his honors. Yesterday, however, he showed his old-time form and won the final 36-hole match for the championship of the Colwood Golf Club by 5 up and 4 to play.

This was the second year in succession that Lineham had reached the finals. Last year he was beaten by F. Wilson, who did not defend his honors in this tournament, in a very close match. Lineham's golf, however, was not as steady as that of his more experienced opponent yesterday. McQuade went through the match in splendid style and made the eighteen holes in the morning in 78, while Lineham redid them three strokes.

McQuade and Lineham got about the same distance off the tee. Lineham was a little too powerful with his iron shots at times and was not as certain on the putting green as McQuade. On the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth in the morning Lineham punched his second shots with a No. 4 iron over the greens.

SECOND DEFEAT

This is the second straight defeat for last year's champion, and unless they come through and play better ball in the next games the league championship will change hands.

Ray Parfitt pitched the whole nine innings for the Sons, and during that time the Travellers collected nine hits.

TRAVELERS TAKE LEAD

The Travellers opened things up in their first time to "X" Camp. Bill was well worked. Webster jugged his partner. He scored when Art Webster sliced one against the right field board for two bases. Colin Campbell doubled scoring Webster. Roy Copas knocked an easy hopper down to Bacon at second, but it took a bad hop and the runner was safe, while Colin Campbell advanced to third and scored. Roy Copas pop fly over second. Roy Copas was called out on a close play at the plate.

In the second innings the Sons got two on, but were unable to bring them home, while in the third the Travellers loaded the bases, but Parfitt struck out the next two, and the danger was over.

COSTLY ERROR

Robinson's error in the sixth inning was mainly responsible for the Sons' first two runs. With two men away Bill More worked Forster for a single. When the next man, knocked off an easy fly to Robinson, in center field, who let it drop out of his hands, Parfitt kissed one of Forbes' fast ones on the nose and hit the centre field fence. More scoring. Devereaux singled and Becher romped across the plate.

The Sons continued on their batting streak in the next inning and tied up the score, giving the crowd a great thrill. Holman was safe when Herb Cummings made a bad throw to first, and advanced to third on Dunn's single through short, and when Cotter in left field fumbled the ball the runner came home.

Joe Kerr will, in all probability, be on the mound for the visitors. He is their first-string pitcher and a good one.

Ray Parfitt or Johnny Kerr will do the pitching duties for Victoria on the afternoon game. Both are going strong just now, and should be able to hold the Victoria slumbers in check.

Port Angeles—Cable, Adams, Avery, Ostenson, McLennan, White, Coleman, Enfield, McLean, and Ervin.

Victoria—A. Webster, J. Cummings, F. Campbell, M. Dunn, J. D'Arcy, H. Gandy, R. Copas, G. Gandy, T. Walker, H. Down, H. Cummings, T. Walker, C. Campbell, F. McMinn, N. Bryson, R. Parfitt, McDonald, J. Noble and J. Kerr.

In the eighth inning the winners obtained the lead. Devereaux was safe off Herb Cummings, and Jimmy Cummins connected for two bases. Devereaux stopping at third. Bacon, the next batter, hit one down to Webster, who got him at first and then threw to catch Cummins off second base. The runner was caught between second and third, but in the meantime called it a day.

The scores for the morning round were as follows:

McQuade, 545, 375, 354—41. Lineham, 556, 475, 343—42.

McQuade, 434, 554, 354—37—78. Lineham, 435, 545, 445—39—81.

The afternoon scores were:

McQuade, 544, 466, 345—41. Lineham, 645, 356, 345—41.

McQuade, 445—45. Lineham, 745—65.

Flock of Errors Is Responsible For Travelers' Defeat

Norm Forbes Pitches Good Game But Samlemen Lost 6-4 to Sons on Saturday

After obtaining a three-run lead which they held until the sixth inning, the Travelers booted the ball over the lot and practically handed the Sons of Canada a 6-4 victory in the senior amateur league baseball game played at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon before a large crowd of fans. As a result of their victory the Native now reposes in second place in the league standing, while the samlemen drop into the cellar position with the Eagles sitting pretty at the top of the league.

Norm Forbes, who was on the mound for the Travellers, gave a great game, striking out less than twelve times, and stumped will be drawn at 6.30 o'clock. This is the first match for the Flumerfelt Cup this season, and both teams are expected to give their best.

The samlemen players will arrive here on the morning boat, and be the guests of the Victoria team at breakfast. Vancouver is sending over a very strong eleven. Several new players will make their appearance, including Browne, a first-class man, who recently took up his residence in Vancouver.

LAWN BOWLING

To-morrow the Duncan Lawn Bowling Club will pay its third annual May 24 visit to Beacon Hill on Saturday. The game will start at 2.30 o'clock and be a combination league and club match.

The Burnside will rely on P. Byng, C. Andrew, P. Hanley, J. M. Boyd, J. McInnes, A. Finlay, F. Moules and J. Johnston, A. Pass, A. Edwards, G. Valance, F. Holmes, W. Washington, W. Tupman, J. Cobbe, T. Halliday, J. Lauchlan, J. Mercer and J. P. Hibbert.

Burnside, the junior centre forward, scored a nice goal on a perfect pass from Nicol, who was fast and accurate with his crosses. Minnis equalized for the Thistles. The Juniors worried the opposing defence and Burnside put his side ahead with a good goal. Banks was tested twice and pulled off good saves.

Minnis equalizing soon after the start of the second half, and Burnside again put the Juniors in the lead on a pass from Groves, who was playing a great game at outside left. Connerton took the score for the Thistles. Harmer fouled Groves and Easier missed the ball, shot, shooting wide. Burnside went through and set a timorous pace. Hennessy, who was holding his ground to do in the Thistles' goal. Another penalty was given to the Juniors. Peepin took the shot and scoring, but the rules it was retaken, but the Thistle goalie stopped it, at the same time whistling for full time. McKenzie, Burnet, Nicol, Thompson and Groves were outstanding for the Juniors, while Kennedy, Joe Crowe and Connerton were good for the Thistles.

The entries are as follows:

Capt. Perkins, pro of the Vancouver Golf Club, and Dave Aytoun, pro of the Point Grey Golf Club, were in town yesterday to look over the Colwood Golf Club, over which the P.N.W. championships will be staged next month.

Perkins tried out the back tee which will lengthen the course nearly 300 yards, and he completed the other holes in 76.

Both pros were highly pleased with the condition of the course.

External treatments seldom banish Piles and for the very good reason that the cause is inside and circulation in affected parts, when it is free, is slow and weak.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membrane. This can be done by the use of methylgl. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

Leinhardt, M.D., a specialist, set at work some time ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID and it has proven successful in thousands of cases since its introduction. It is sold by druggists under a money back guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Marianne's Drug Co., who will promptly refund the purchase price if you are dissatisfied.

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

New York, May 23 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—An active demand for special issues such as West Maryland, International Nickel, Bangor and Aroostock, Chrysler, due to special causes affecting the companies, these shares represent accounted for active covering in the market leaders which had a favorable influence on the stock market generally in the forenoon. This afternoon witnessed an advance in the call money rate, which influenced heavy realizing, and as to the market generally speaking ended under this pressure.

Sugar stocks as a group acted well in the reflection of recent accumulation. A number of issues met with scattered selling due to some of the disappointing earnings reports for April coming to hand.

The California oil production for the week showed the lowest figures this year, though offsetting this in a measure and affecting some of the California oil shares reports came to hand that several wells in the Alamitos sector of Seal Beach Field are showing no water.

There was no special change in character of market. The insistent demand for special issues continued to dominate the market's turnover, though we feel that discrimination should continue to be exercised on the buying side at this time.

New York, May 23 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's direct Wall Street wire):

The New York Journal's stock market edition this afternoon says:

Stocks displayed a confident tone throughout the day's trading, the market disregarding a firming up in the call money rate to 4½ per cent. Steel, Atchinson, and other standard investment issues were rather quiet, but pool operations went fast ahead in a large number of issues and several new tops were recorded.

Western Maryland common was the feature of the rail list. Advance in these issues was regarded as a speculative move. As has been pointed out in these columns, interest in the Pittsburgh and W. Va. Railway have been buying. Gandy common for some time and it is probable they now have a sizeable interest in the company. The Baltimore and Ohio announced the middle of February stated it had 250,000 shares, or over 35 per cent of the outstanding Western Maryland. Earnings of Western Maryland this year have shown a substantial gain.

W. S. Campbell, president of the Victoria Stock Exchange, returned to the exchange this morning after a vacation in California during which he took up monoplane flying at San Diego. Mr. Campbell was in the air over the port the morning that Lindbergh took off from San Diego for St. Louis, on the first hop of the journey which ended with him in Paris. Mr. Campbell also visited Mexico.

"California had nothing on Victoria," Mr. Campbell said to day. "I never realized it so much as yesterday when I was playing on the Uplands links and could look across the Straits to the great snow-capped mountains. California has nothing to equal that."

To-day's Mining Markets

The local market opened quiet, but firm to-day.

George Copper sold at 80 again, with a black of 800 changing hands on the floor of the exchange at that price. It is understood that the interest that was short 500 shares last week at 70, covered to-day, but there were reports that another interest had indulged in selling more stock than what was owned. The stock is tightening up daily, with indications that the time is near for a good lift in it. What that other consolidated stock, Coast Copper, experienced a few weeks ago.

There is also heavy dealing in George Copper in Vancouver. The trading there so far has been on the unlisted curb, but it is understood that the stock is soon to go on the listed exchange.

LAILA

A Tale of the Days of Christ, by John Newport
(Copyright, 1926, by Eugene MacLean)

They waited for a repetition of the cry. The path was in absolute darkness. It was impossible even to make out the division between the mountain top above them and the drizzling sky. The rain still fell, drenching splashing in the puddles on the path.

At last Antonius took his servant by the shoulder, and pushed him in the direction of the cave. The man got upon his feet and moved swiftly away.

The dead Arabian—the one who had been propped by his comrades as a shield before Antonius—at this moment toppled over, and fell into the crevass. The soldier was startled, and jerked his sword into readiness. When he realized what had happened, he immediately patted the desert-chief's shoulder. The latter, who was holding Antonius' former post, responded with a quiet chuckle. Both resumed their alert attention to the route that the tribesman had taken on his scouting trip.

Ten minutes went by fifteen minutes. Antonius was impatiently drumming on the rock with the hilt of his sword.

The Arabian chief touched him inquiringly, and the soldier gave a reassuring pat upon the back.

They assumed their anxious wait. An hour passed, and still their runner had not returned. The remaining tribesman stood up, beside Antonius, and told by his movements that he was preparing to go in search of his comrade.

"Wait," said Antonius, holding him by the ankle.

The man stood motionless.

There came a woman's voice, calling: "Soldier! Soldier!" It was muffled by the rain, but Antonius recognized the soft tones.

"Maryam!" he answered. "Where are you?"

"Soldier," she said. "I am in the cave, talking through the aperture. With me another, helping the path!"

"Why?" he shouted.

"Herod's men are at the entrance of the cavern! They slid down the ledges with ropes, after night. My father, and Aaron, and Ezra are holding the path, but I do not know how long they can resist. If we are conquered, and the guards get within the cave, they can lay you with arrows through this opening. Get out of range, I pray you!"

He called to her for more information; but evidently she had withdrawn.

His ensuing movements were busyness and brisk. Tugging at the arm of the Arab, who stood beside him, he made him know. Then, flattening himself against the rocky side of the path, he pulled at the chief, until the latter, understanding, crawled past him. He helped the wounded man mount to his follower's back, and with a little shove started them on their way.

"I hope they won't go too far," he muttered to himself. "I wish I could explain to them."

He drew together his weapons, putting his sword into its sheath, placing two extra daggers—spurs from the battle—into his belt, and rested his spear across his knees.

A long time passed, while he waited for the Arabs to come and carry him, in turn, to a safer spot.

At last, grumbling, he began to hitch himself along, watchful against injury to his broken leg, pulling his body by pressure of his hands against the path.

He dragged his spear after him, laying it down as he drew himself forward, then pausing to move the weapon farther along.

Daylight found him at the curve where the two villagers had stood guard the day before. There was no sign of them, nor of the Arabians. He peered down the sharp slope below him, a tangle of brush hid from him anything that might have fallen from the cliff.

Alas, and across the ravine, there was a ledge, evidently part of the roof of the cave. Behind it was another height of the mountain, a bare precipice crowned at its top with a plume of trees.

A hundred paces from him began the sand dunes, the pale yellow sand disappearing in underneath. After studying this scene for a time, Antonius crawled back a little distance on the way he had come. He settled himself in a small, sharp curve, which gave him partial shelter from attack in the rear. A shoulder of rock protruded, narrowing the path to the breast of a man's foot. He could see toward the entrance of the cave by craning his neck, but in the other direction he had an uninterrupted

Bad Backache Relieved After Seven Years

John Hallahan Now Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

"I have been subject to a bad back for the last seven or eight years," states Mr. J. Hallahan, a well known resident of Princeton, N.J. "I have tried all kinds of medicines but have found them no good. My wife was reading your Almanac and found where lots of people were relieved of complaints like mine, so I got two boxes and now I am feeling much better. I recommend your Dodd's Kidney Pills to all who suffer with backache like I did." Other sufferers tell of pains relieved and health restored through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

visiting Mrs. Bow Wow, the lady dog. She gave me a fine breakfast. But I came early to see you to get you to help me."

"What?" asked Uncle Wiggily and he tried to see what that rustling thing was Bunty had. But she held it in her paws behind her back.

"Help me fly my kite," Bunty answered. "Look, I made myself a kite and I wish you'd come with me before school, and show me how to fly it. If I ask any of the boys they'll want to fly it themselves. 'Cause boys think they're the only ones that know how to make kites or fly 'em. But I'll show em I can!" and Bunty looked very brave.

"Why that's a pretty good little kite for a rabbit girl to make," said Uncle Wiggily as he looked at it. "Did you do it all yourself?"

"Every bit!" declared Bunty. "I found the sticks and I tied them together and I pinned the paper on and tied on the string and made the tail. Now if you'll come and help me fly it I'll be awful glad."

"Well, what could Uncle Wiggily say after that? Of course he felt he must help Bunty. He had finished his breakfast and he was going about his business again, helping the orphan bunny to fly her kite would lead to something.

The kite was rather crooked and lopsided. The paper was not well pasted on and the string was full of knots. But Bunty had tied together many odd pieces she picked up here and there.

"But I think the kite is all right," said Uncle Wiggily. "We'll go to the fields and try it." So before any of the other animal children were around Bunty and Uncle Wiggily hopped down the garden-path and soon were in the meadow. There the rabbit gentleman held the kite above the weeds so the tail wouldn't tangle and Baby Bunty ran, holding the string.

"Oh, it's going up! It's going up!" shouted Bunty looking back over her shoulder as she saw her kite rising in the air. "Who said I couldn't make a kite?"

"Whoever said that didn't know how smart you were!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "And now, as long as your kite is up in the air, Bunty, I will leave you to fly it and hop along to look for an adventure."

"All right," answered Bunty. But Uncle Wiggily had not stopped away very far before, of a sudden, Bunty came running after him, shouting: "Uncle Wig! Uncle Wig! Something terrible has happened! I asked a little hophead girl to hold my kite cord a minute while I tied my hair ribbon, and while she was holding it the wind blew a big puff and it took the kite and the little hophead girl away, way up in the air! Oh, isn't it dreadful! What shall I do?"

Uncle Wiggily hopped back with Uncle Wiggily to where he had left her and there, being dragged through the air by the kite string to which she still had hold, was the little hophead girl.

"Save me! Save me!" she begged. "I will!" cried Uncle Wiggily. Luckily there was part of the string still dangling on the ground, and the rabbit said she would. So she flew her kite until it was time to go to school when she pulled it down.

Did you ever hear how Uncle Wiggily lost one of his rubbers? Well you will in the next story if the umbrella doesn't turn the milk bottle upside down to see if it wears roller skates.

The eyelids of a frog wink upward.

Uncle Wiggily and Bunty's Kite

(By Howard R. Garis)

"Uncle Wiggily! Sisit! Sisit! Hey, Uncle Wig!"

Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit girl, stood under the breakfast room window of the rabbit gentleman's hollow stump bungalow early one morning and called his name. At the same time she made funny hissing sounds with her lips.

As it happened Uncle Wiggily was eating an early meal that morning for he intended to hop off adventuring before his forty-seven little bunny rabbit

Bad Backache Relieved After Seven Years

John Hallahan Now Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

"I have been subject to a bad back for the last seven or eight years," states Mr. J. Hallahan, a well known resident of Princeton, N.J. "I have tried all kinds of medicines but have found them no good. My wife was reading your Almanac and found where lots of people were relieved of complaints like mine, so I got two boxes and now I am feeling much better. I recommend your Dodd's Kidney Pills to all who suffer with backache like I did." Other sufferers tell of pains relieved and health restored through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"It's going up!" shouted Bunty.

boys and girls came tumbling, sliding, rolling, fall and jumping down stairs to eat their breakfasts.

So when he heard his name called, Mr. Longears, eating the last of the cabbage muffins, hopped to the window and looked out. He saw Bunty there looking very excited.

"Why are you around so early, Baby Bunty?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "It is time for you to go to school?"

"I know it, if you please," answered Bunty, dancing joyfully up and down, while something in her paws, made of paper, sticks and strings, rustled and rattled. "I came early on purpose," went on the little rabbit girl.

"Early, for what—for breakfast?" asked Uncle Wiggily, for sometimes Bunty visited his bungalow.

"No, I have had my breakfast, thank you," said the orphan bunny. "I'm

LINDBERGH TELLS OF HIS LONG FLIGHT

New York-Paris Aviator Flew His Plane Through Fog, Rain and Hail

Says He Made Transatlantic Flight by Dead Reckoning

Paris, May 22.—Captain Charles A. Lindbergh yesterday told the story of his flight from New York to Paris to a group of newspapermen at the U.S. Embassy here and when he had finished everyone was firm in the belief he was a real flying genius.

"Being newspapermen," he began, "I suppose you gentlemen are interested first in knowing what was the most dangerous thing about our flight from New York to Paris. The most dangerous thing of all was that of landing at Le Bourget, bringing that ship down on a field with all the crowd running."

"Hand me the map and I'll tell you," Lindbergh replied.

NOT SLEEPY

In answer to another question he said he had not felt either hungry or sleepy during the flight. About meals he said: "I ate about a sandwich and a half and drank about a half glass of water." He added, "But you see our ship was small and we are protected from the winds and so we didn't have that discomfort."

"How did you fly from Cherbourg on to Paris?" he was asked.

"Oh, just came on in a straight line, picked up the beans of the searchlights all right and saw the Seine. Then when I got a look at the Eiffel Tower, I lit up, I knew that was it."

He had been told at home Le Bourget was fourteen kilometres northeast of Paris.

"When I got there I wasn't quite sure it was Le Bourget. That is why I flew around there several minutes. I thought Le Bourget was a little farther on, but when they turned on the search lights I figured that must be the place. Then the crowd began racing out there into the lights and there wasn't any more doubt about it."

FATE OF THE TWO OTHERS

The French journalists asked Lindbergh what was his opinion as to the fate of Nungesser and Coli, as he took off from Newfoundland one of the hundred things that seems not improbable is that they got into a storm that they might not have been able to get out of or climb above a snow storm can bring you down in five minutes because ice built up in front of the wings will change their entire curve."

"Then suppose they flew low all the way and got into an ice field. There you have got the worst possible conditions and you might not be able to get over it. There are ice fields off Newfoundland where if you had to come down there would not be one chance in a thousand to be found."

"The flight Nungesser and Coli took from Paris to New York was much harder than coming from New York to Paris because of unfavorable conditions."

"At New York we received telegrams from all over the United States, nearly all asking us to express sorrow to the people of Paris over the loss of Nungesser and Coli. Their attempt touched the heart of everybody in our country and every one of us wanted them to succeed."

RESCUED FROM CROWD

From the time Lindbergh stepped out of his plane on the flying field at Le Bourget he was in the hands of a dozen or more men. How he got to the United States Embassy, after being separated from Ambassador Herrick, became only clearly known yesterday. Three French aviators, one of them being Major Weiss, got hold of him and drove him straight across the flying field in an automobile and on to Paris ahead of the terrific torrent of traffic which afterwards was to block the road from Le Bourget almost until dawn.

The Ambassadors arrived at the Embassy an hour or so later, having been held up in the traffic. Meanwhile the three French aviators had gone out and brought the first great amounts of flowers that Lindbergh was to receive. Mrs. Vincent Astor and Mrs. John Hay, who had followed the Ambassador's car into Paris from the flying field, pleaded for a chance to congratulate the aviator before he left to sleep away his weariness.

"I am mighty glad to meet you ladies," the young captain said. "I hope to get a chance to see you again while in Paris," and then he went to bed to wake up ten hours later and find the world was his.
